First Army Attacks 11 Miles South Of Ruhr Basin

Believe Allies Ready For Move On Ruhr Basin

Joint Attack Is Indicated—
Patton's Forces May Drive Into Ruhr

MAY ALSO HEAD FOR HITLER'S HANGOUT

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Adolf Hitler's crumbling fortress in western Europe sagged steadily under remorseless Allied pressure today amid fresh indications that American and British armies are ready to open their joint offensive against the Ruhr basin, last reservoir of the Nazi war machine still remaining in German hands.

With the Saar valley completely occupied and nothing but a minor bridgehead left to the Nazis in the palatinate, field dispatches indicated the first stages of an American assault against the southern rim of the Ruhr from the Remagen bridgehead sector while German broadcasts reiterated the enemy's conviction that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery has completed preparations for a leap across the lower Rhine.

Mass For Crossing
There were reports that British and Canadian troops, supported by formidable American contingents, were massing in the West area under cover of a gigantic smokescreen der cover of a crossing which may result in both concentric and frontal attacks upon the Ruhr valley.

But Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., and his famous Third Army may beat Montgomery to the punch. Virtually all resistance in the palatinate ended except at Mainz, where policemen and firemen, browbeaten into action by the Gestapo, took up arms in a futile and suicidal attempt to hold this one last city of importance west of the Rhine that has not yet been completely overrun.

The unpredictable Patton, whose dash and military unorthodoxy have completely confounded the German high command, is in a hurry and the events of the next few days

PA NEWC Observes

By the calendar Wednesday was the first full day of spring, but weather conditions in the afternoon and evening reflected a return to old fashioned winter. Several inches of clinging snow fell during the evening. This morning an old fashioned winter scene was again in evidence here. Temperature got down to about the freezing mark.

Snow shovelling was in order again early this morning, but a lot of householders didn't bother with the job, preferring to wait until the sun cleared the walks later in the morning.

Snow which began falling last evening and continued on into the night, seemed to have caused more damage than some of the snows during the winter. The heavy wet snow clinging to branches of trees, already beginning to sprout their leaves, resulted in branches being broken off. Pa Newc noted this morning.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:
Maximum temperature, 46.
Minimum temperature, 30.
Precipitation, 1.16 inches, rain, sleet and snow, including 8 1/2 inches of snow.
River stage, 122 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:
Maximum temperature, 41.
Minimum temperature, 19.
No precipitation.

WHITE FLAGS OUT AS YANKS GO IN

From every house in the village of Kettig, Germany, white flags appear as a lone American jeep rolls into the street. Just a few hours before the Yanks arrived, swastikas might have been seen fluttering on most of the buildings. Army Signal Corps photo.

Superfortresses Bomb Rangoon Second Time

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, March 22.—(INS)—Rangoon, important Jap-held port in Burma, today felt the crushing weight of America's giant B-29 Superfortresses for the second time in six days.

Washington headquarters of the 20th Air Force announced that a "sizeable task force" of Superforts based in India returned to Rangoon to bomb "important military installations and storage areas."

Last Saturday, the India-based B-29s from Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramsey's 20th Bomber Command, raided Rangoon storage area with good results.

First Day Of Spring Is Ushered In With Record Fall Of Snow

Over Eight Inches Of Snow Falls, But Most Of It Melts Due To Warmth Of Ground

Had temperatures been several degrees lower last evening, the first day of spring would have been one long to be remembered by local folks, as the day of the big snow. A total of eight and a half inches of the beautiful fell last evening, starting just before six o'clock and continuing on to midnight.

However, temperatures were above the freezing point, when rain, which had been falling all day long, turned to snow, and most of it melted as it fell during the early evening hours. Later on, the temperature dropped to below the freezing point, and places this morning, the snow was around three inches deep.

Over an inch of precipitation occurred yesterday, bringing the month's total to 5.68 inches, a record amount for March. The normal precipitation for March is 3.04 inches, the excess so far being 67 per cent above the normal.

Hainan Island Reported Bombed

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS)—American Superfortresses, Liberators and Lightnings attacked Jap-held Hainan island yesterday, the Tokyo radio reported today.

The broadcast, heard by the FCC, said that 120 planes took part in the raid and that they were "re-pulsed" after the Jap garrison had "inflicted considerable damage" on the raiders.

New York Night Clubs Return To Curfew Closing

Most Of Them Go Back To Midnight Closing Hour
Despite Mayor's Move

By WILLIAM W. WADE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 22.—Renegade New York City, in a confused and faltering way, returned today to the ranks of other cities throughout the nation on the issue of obedience to the midnight entertainment curfew.

Faced with the prospects of two night club closing deadlines—one for servicemen and another, an hour later, for civilians—the greater part of New York chose to abide by the midnight knell for pleasure seeking.

And thus, War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes appeared to have won a victory over Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and his "hour of tolerance" which, for three nights, allowed the city's taverns to remain open until 1 a. m.

Not Ended Yet
The victory was not clearcut, however, since some night spots last night continued to take advantage of the 1 a. m. closing and the mayor was yet to be heard from. The "Little Flower" was scheduled to

Intervention In Mine Controversy Believed Near

Secretary Perkins May Make Attempt To Reconcile Miners, Operators In Dispute

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(INS)—Government intervention in the coal-wage negotiations was believed imminent today as hope dimmed for successful collective bargaining between the operators and the United Mine Workers.

It was considered highly probable that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins will make a personal attempt to reconcile the parties before certifying the dispute to the War Labor Board.

The current bituminous wage agreement expires March 31 and the four-year-old soft coal miners will have a strike vote three days before that deadline.

ADVANCED PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, March 22.—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, whose U. S. Pacific fleet carrier forces crushed Japanese sea and air forces in the battle of the island sea of Japan, announced today that aircraft under his command staged widespread raids on enemy bases from the Kuriles to the Carolines.

While additional details were awaited of the dramatic raid by task force 58, in which some 15 to 17 Jap warships and seven freighters were damaged and six other enemy cargo ships sunk, Nimitz remained reticent as to the whereabouts of the mighty carrier group prowling the waters of the far Pacific.

Magnitude Of Bomber Attacks Baffles Germans

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 22.—American heavy bombers roared over the Reich for the 38th consecutive day today, spearheading an aerial blow of such magnitude that bewildered enemy announcers gave up the task of trying to trace the course of the massive formations through the skies.

Before yielding in confusion, the enemy announcers indicated that Allied planes were criss-crossing virtually all of Germany. Warnings followed each other over various transmitters at five minutes or ten minute intervals for three hours, hinting that an assault of nearly unprecedented scope may be under way.

American Air Force headquarters announced that big formations again were over the enemy homeland, continuing the greatest aerial bombardment history has ever recorded.

The daylight attacks got under way shortly after dawn when RAF Lancasters loosed 11-ton volcano bombs on the Arbergen railroad bridge in the outskirts of Bremen on the Weser river.

Planning For Final Knockout Of Japan Poses Many Problems

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

If Japan does not collapse after a period of close naval blockade and intensive bombardment from the air, and if Russia decides not to nuri her great Siberian armies against Nipponese forces in the all-out land war which many authorities believe will be necessary to bring about the unconditional surrender of the Mikado's empire, the American-British Allies will be confronted with one of the most momentous problems of history in planning the knockout stage of the war in the Pacific.

Shall the Allies adopt the so-called "continental strategy," advancing along the China coast to Manchukuo and Korea, then to the Japanese islands via the narrow straits of Tsu-Shima? or shall they employ the "amphibious strategy," striking directly at the heart of the Japanese empire in a gigantic ship-to-shore thrust patterned after the D-Day landing on the coast of France?

What Troops
In addition to this decision on purely operational strategy, Allied authorities face a problem of even more far-reaching importance in the question as to whether American-British or Chinese troops shall be used in the final land-fighting stage of the war in the Orient.

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, March 22.—Red army annihilation forces drew a steel ring tighter about doomed Nazi garrisons in the Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia today, pressing the Russian campaign to eliminate all German resistance on the northern flank of the great eastern front.

Soviet tanks and infantry heading directly for the one great port of Danzig reached a point less than six miles from the city, capturing the town of Klein-Boelkau to the southwest.

North of Danzig, other Russian forces captured the German stronghold of Gross-Katz, two and one-half miles from Danzig's bay, in a drive to isolate Danzig and Gdynia.

To the east, Russians fighting in East Prussia further reduced the Nazi resistance southwest of Koenigsberg. Troops of the third white Russian army battled for crossings along the Jaffa river less than half a mile south of Heilingbell, the one remaining road junction and main center of German resistance left with the fall of Braunsberg.

Hurl Big Shells Into Stettin
Northeast of Berlin, Russian artillery massed across the Oder estuary from Stettin hurled big shells into the city from captured positions at Altdamm, German stronghold less than four miles east of Stettin, which is now in Russian hands.

Hear Speculation Kesselring Is Now Western Front Head

WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY ON THE RHINE, March 22.—(INS)—Allied correspondents on the western front speculated openly today that Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring has replaced Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt in command in that sector.

Kesselring has been commander of German troops in Italy for many months. Von Rundstedt has had charge of enemy forces in the west since D-Day, at one time sharing responsibility with the late Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

German Supply Points And Communications Are Bombed By U. S. And British Fliers

ROME, March 22.—(INS)—American and RAF heavy bombers pounded German supply points and communications yesterday and last night, Allied Mediterranean headquarters announced today.

Ground action on the Italian front was the lightest in several days.

Heavy American bombers in strength and escorted by fighters attacked airfields in Germany, oil refineries and railroad yards in Austria and a railroad yard in Yugoslavia.

Medium bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters continued the assaults on enemy communications.

Eight Allied planes, including three heavy bombers, are missing from 2,575 sorties. Three enemy aircraft were destroyed in combat.

MANILA, March 22.—Only "minor" pockets of Japanese resistance remained today on Panay following the capture of Iloilo, principal city on the south coast of the Central Philippines island.

The enemy garrison in Iloilo, following the pattern laid down by the Japs at Manila, destroyed three-fourths of the once beautiful city with electrically-controlled time bombs before being forced to flee by liberating Yanks of Maj. Gen. Rapp Brush's Fortieth Division.

Capture of Iloilo, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in his Thursday morning communique, ended all organized enemy resistance on the island.

P A R I S, March 22.—Troops of the United States First Army opened the battle for the Ruhr valley today in the wake of the Third Army's stunning victory in the Saar-Palatinate which wiped out or doomed an estimated 100,000 German soldiers.

Battered From Air
German army encampments and concentration centers in the Ruhr were battered mercilessly by more than 1,300 heavy American bombers and 700 Mustangs. The initial blow of the aerial onslaught on the Ruhr, promised by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, was concentrated on nine enemy army camps.

The centers were located near Bottrop, Gladbeck, Barmingholten, Dorsten, Wetterholt, Mulheim, Hinsbeck, Hattingen and Geresheim. Airfields at Kitzingen, Giebelstadt, Rhein-Main, Schwabishall and Ahlhorn also were battered.

While First Army troops attacked along the Sieg river some 11 miles south of the Ruhr basin—the last great reservoir of industrial strength and natural resources remaining in the German war machine—speeding Third Army columns cut the last good east-west highway in the Saar pocket.

Nazis Victims Of Greatest Aerial Raids In History

LONDON, March 22.—(INS)—American heavy bombers roared over Germany today to continue the greatest aerial assault in history against Nazi targets. U. S. Air force headquarters announced.

Earlier the British air ministry disclosed that strong forces of Lancaster bombers had struck at Germany shortly after dawn for the 38th consecutive daylight assault on the Reich.

Tactical air forces also were out in strength at dawn to renew the attacks which whipped Nazi objectives during the night from the Dutch coast to the Ruhr.

The German radio throughout the morning hours barked warnings of a two-way Allied air blast in the making, saying that one fleet of Allied bombers was approaching Germany over Holland while another was coming up from the south over Austria.

The Nazi radio reported a third Allied formation on its way at 11 a. m. (6 a. m. EDT), saying that it was headed for southwestern Germany.

Mosquito bombers hit Berlin twice during the night, making it the 30th successive night British forces have attacked the German capital.

German Report Says Breakthrough Made By Russians

LONDON, March 22.—(INS)—New Soviet breakthrough bids along the entire Hungarian front between Lake Balaton and the Danube were reported in today's German communique.

The communique claimed that west of the Sarvaz canal, on both sides of Szekesfeher and Carpiata as well as north of Tata, Soviet attacks were checked before the German lines.

The communique added:
"The defensive battle on the Gulf of Danzig further mounted in intensity with high losses on both sides."
"In West Prussia the enemy extended his attacks to the area on either side of Hohenstein."
"In heavy fighting a Soviet breakthrough on Gdynia and Danzig was prevented and 49 Soviet tanks were destroyed."
"The Russians here gained only limited ground."

Local Merchant Stricken In Auto

Samuel Levine Suffers Fatal Heart Attack While On Buying Trip Near Princeton Wednesday

Samuel Levine, aged 60 years, of 207 East Edison avenue, who operates a market on Moravia street, was stricken with a fatal heart attack in his car Wednesday afternoon, according to Coroner T. F. Nugent.

Mr. Levine had gone to the country yesterday to buy chickens and was en route home when he evidently felt the attack coming on. He had strength enough to pull his car to the side of the road and turn off the ignition key, in the vicinity of Princeton. Princeton high school students, en route home from school, discovered him slumped over in his car and called their teacher, who notified Sheriff Ingham. Mr. Ingham later got in touch with the coroner.

Mr. Levine was born September 18, 1884, in New York City, son of David and Madeline Levine. He lived in New Castle most of his life and was a merchant at 931 Moravia street for the past 40 years. On May 15, 1911, he married Mollie Cohen, who survives. Mr. Levine was a member of the Tifereth Israel synagogue and the British Shalom lodge and Zionist organization of America.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Mollie Cohen Levine, he leaves the following children: Mrs. Mildred Nelson, Akron, O.; Mrs. Dorothy Simon, Paula Levine and Cpl. Lester Levine, stationed at Miami Beach, Fla.

Surviving are two brothers, Louis Levine, mayor of Farrell, Pa.; Oscar Levine, this city; two sisters, Mrs. Jack Gold and Mrs. Al Haenick, this city, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, 207 East Edison avenue. Interment will be in Tifereth Israel cemetery.

The body was removed from the Campbell funeral home to the residence last evening, where it will remain until time of services.

armies of tough, brave Chinese has long been a favorite theme with western military men. In wildernesses of China's coastal provinces, cut off from Chungking by Japanese armies, there are an estimated 1,000,000 soldiers of patriotic China. When American forces establish themselves on the China coast, possibly next summer, it should be possible to contact these fighting Chinese and provide them with the equipment and training necessary to transform them into armies numerous enough and strong enough to drive the Japanese from the mainland of Asia, then storm the islands of Japan.

The use of Chinese troops would avoid heavy casualties to American-British infantry, which has already suffered severe losses in the war with Germany. It also would render unnecessary the transportation of troops half way around the world from America and Britain.

Estimates of the number of ground troops that would be required to beat Japan in an infantry war run from 1,000,000 to three times that number. Chinese soldiers can live luxuriously on an amount of rations on which American or British fighting men would almost starve, so the daily flow of supplies could be proportionately less.

Argument Against The argument against the use of Chinese soldiers is that it would take perhaps a couple of years more to supply the necessary degree of training. Then, if China were pre-empted by a powerful army, what Chinese political faction would control it?

The coast of China contains many harbors, walled off from the hinterland by mountains and marshes, that the Japanese would have difficulty in reaching. A series of these could be occupied running north to Manchukuo.

Probably Japan's island fortress of Formosa would be taken early. Then American air bases in North China would put Japan, Korea and Manchukuo under close bombardment and open the way for short-distance amphibious drives to Nippon itself.

the city after a sharp fight with Japanese infantrymen, who seized Iloilo's vital dock and harbor areas intact. Infantry patrols and guerrilla forces clearing the coastal plain northwest of Iloilo, which had a peacetime population of 90,000, occupied the towns of Gaub and Tabacan, near the Santa Barbara airfield, and San Sebastian and Pavia to the southeast.

The swift elimination of organized Jap resistance on the island, which was invaded last Sunday morning, was accomplished through the close support of guerrillas and aircraft of the Thirteenth Air Force, based on neighboring Leyte and Mindoro islands.

Guerrillas Aid In preparing the ground for the record clean-up, guerrilla forces led by Col. Macario Peralta, Jr., had practically cleared the interior and coastal sectors. During the months since MacArthur's initial landings on Leyte, they had restricted the Japanese to the immediate vicinity of Iloilo.

Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander who personally directed the Fortieth Division in the field, presented Colonel Peralta with the Distinguished Service Cross shortly after Iloilo fell.

On Luzon Island, the Thirteenth Infantry Division joined up with guerrilla forces at captured San Fernando, principal harbor on the east shore of Luzon, and began advancing inland along the Nagulian trail towards bomb-battered Baguio, reported headquarters of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

may bring about a totally unexpected change in the course of the war.

Commanding the most completely mobile army in the history of warfare and an acknowledged master in the art of surprise, Patton once across the Rhine presumably could strike north, south or east at his own discretion.

But it would appear entirely logical for Patton to leave the glory of Berlin's own conquest to the Russians or to the Allied armies of the north, and set himself out to destroy the last ditch forces Hitler is building around himself and his Eagle's nest in Bavaria.

Such a campaign might materially shorten the war and it might be combined with the long-awaited Soviet drive through the Moravian gap of Czechoslovakia—a joint thrust that would cut Germany in two from west to east, dislocate the few workable lines of communication and supply still in Nazi hands and bring about not only Germany's collapse but its actual vivisection even before the delegates to any peace conference get a chance to do it themselves.

On to Berlin? Obviously has been a slogan to fit Gen. Patton's temperament and inspire the men under him to virtual accomplishment of miracles. But "On to Berchtesgaden," while more difficult to pronounce, has decidedly attractive ring to it as well, for Berchtesgaden means Hitler, and Hitler remains the prime enemy.

make a radio broadcast tonight which may add fuel to the controversy.

As soon as the army and navy decision to ease servicemen out of the city's night spots at midnight became known, the mayor's local curfew was made untenable. Rather than serve civilians after thousands of servicemen were ousted, virtually all of the principal cafes, restaurants and hostilities announced they would fall in line with the Byrnes "request."

This attitude probably was best expressed by a sign posted in the lounge of one of the city's hotels. It said: "One curfew indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Among the better known clubs which closed promptly at midnight last night were the Stork club, El Morocco, Monte Carlo, Cafe Zanzibar, the Diamond Horseshoe and Leon and Eddie's.

precipitous strength to the left bank of the Rhine. The fleeing Germans, however, still control some secondary roads but these are under constant air force attack.

Continued Third Army advances carried American troops to within six miles of Speyer, an important industrial city midway between Mannheim and Karlsruhe.

As the beaten and bedraggled Germans withdrew to the Rhine, Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's 10th Armored Division of the Third Army drove eight miles southeast to Annweiler, six miles west of Landau, where the main road leading to the river was severed.

Mopping Up Ludwigschafen The 94th Division still is engaged in cleaning up Ludwigschafen, where mopping-up is almost completed while at the same time elements of another unidentified armored division which also had entered Ludwigschafen advanced three miles to the southeast to reach within six miles of Speyer.

German holdings in the Saar-Palatinate are now nothing more than a minor bridgehead, a spokes-man for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said, and the pocket is shrinking rapidly. The Third Army now controls the Rhine from Coblenz to Ludwigschafen, although the 90th Infantry division still is meeting resistance within Mainz, where police and fire forces are cooperating with storm troopers in a last-ditch fight.

The Third Army's bag of prisoners for the last 10 days numbered 60,000 today. An estimated 11,000 captives were taken yesterday and 11,300 were processed by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops on Tuesday, setting a 24-hour record.

May Reach 100,000 At least 80,000 Germans in the diamond formed by the Saar, Moselle and Rhine rivers have been accounted for and some military observers believe Nazi losses may run to 100,000. A captured German officer reported that the 10th Armored division of one Nazi division killed himself when he learned his position was surrounded.

In new gains of eight miles the Third Army seized control of the west bank of the Rhine for 100 miles in the area extending from Coblenz to point south of Ludwigschafen.

At least 300 miles of the river's west bank was in Allied hands as the German escape gap was reduced to 18 miles.

New Bridgehead Gains At the Remagen bridgehead the U. S. First Army made new gains of three miles in a powerful surge toward the approaches of the Ruhr valley, sweeping up to the Sieg river along a seven-mile front.

Nazi commentators said the Remagen bulge, now 25 miles long and eight miles deep, was swarming with U. S. troops, tanks and artillery in preparation for a "dangerous" thrust toward the Ruhr.

Some 2,200 of the enormous bag of prisoners taken yesterday by the Third Army were seized inside the cleared city of Worms and other stragglers still are being picked up in the Coblenz area.

Deep in the Saar basin the 65th Division continued its work of mopping up the dwindling Nazi forces in the region of Neunkirchen, 24 miles south of Kaiserslautern.

German resistance along the U. S. Seventh Army front in the Siegrieden west of Pirmasens has collapsed but east of the town the Nazis are fighting desperately to keep their dwindling escape gap open.

The forces of Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch are now only some 12 miles south of the armored columns which cleared the city of Ludwigschafen.

PACIFIC FLEET PLANES EXTEND ATTACK ON JAPS

shu, destroying or damaging some 600 enemy aircraft in addition to inflicting "crippling" blows on the trapped enemy naval units at Kobe and Kure. That these losses inflicted on the Japs would prove more staggering than originally anticipated was expected because Nimitz' first announcement was compiled on the basis of "preliminary" reports from Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, commanding the U. S. Fifth Fleet.

Nimitz' communique this morning restricted itself to announcing raid on the Kureles, the Bonins, the Carolines and Wake Island.

On Tuesday, the communique declared, Army Liberators bombed the strategic airfield on Chichi Jima, in the Bonin group, and were followed up the next day by a fighter strike.

Mustangs In Action The fighters, deadly little P-51 Mustangs, were based on newly captured Iwo Jima, which lies only three hours flying time from Tokyo. The P-51's hammered Jap barracks, a radio station and other installations at Chichi, which is relatively close to Iwo.

Rocket and strafing attacks were carried out against Japanese shore installations and shipping at Paramushiro of the Kuriles on Monday. These assaults were staged by Ventura's of the navy, and on the same day Mitchell and Liberator bombers of the 11th Army Airforce bombed and strafed canneries, buildings and radio installations on the same island.

Marine fighters, dive-bombers and torpedo planes bombed and strafed airdrome installations, waterfront facilities and other targets on Yap during Wednesday.

Fires and explosions were touched off after navy search privateers of fleet airwing two bombed unspecified targets on Jap-held American Wake Island on Tuesday.

Ratifying Treaties

One of the proposed amendments to the Constitution of the United States which is at present very much in the limelight is that proposing that treaties between the United States and foreign powers should be ratified by a mere majority vote of the Senate. Some do not go quite so far but suggest that treaties be ratified by a majority vote of both the Senate and House of Representatives.

A reason given by the proponents of such a change is that since Congress may pass a statute by a mere majority, it ought therefore have the right to ratify a treaty by the same kind of a vote.

The argument, however, is unsound for more than one reason. In the first place the Senate has nothing to do with the making of a treaty of peace. The instrument is drawn up in detail by the executive department. The Senate has nothing to say about it until the document comes before it. In the case of a statute our legislative body draws up the bill in the first place—or at least should do so unless it is a mere rubber stamp Congress.

But there is a more compelling reason why the two-thirds rule should be retained. A treaty and a statute are by no means alike. When Congress passes a statute it may, if it desires, repeal it the next week, the next month, or the next year. But with a treaty of peace the case is different. A treaty is a solemn and binding agreement between two powers. Congress may neither repeal nor amend it. It remains in full force and effect until it is abrogated formally, or repudiated informally which latter is something we never do with our treaties. And abrogation of a treaty is something which may have lasting and world-wide effect. There is therefore much difference between a statute, which can be passed by majority vote, and a treaty which must be ratified by a two-thirds vote. The latter requires much more careful consideration and a more widespread approval of the lawmakers.

It is rather significant that all of those statesmen who want an increase of executive power at the expense of the legislative branch of our government are in favor of an amendment abrogating the two-thirds rule on treaties. For the past dozen years there has been a steady trend toward strengthening the executive arm of our government at the expense of the direct representatives of the people. The latest proposal to change the Constitution is another manifestation of this trend.

Open Covenants, Openly Arrived At

Everybody knows yet just how much success the San Francisco conference will have in building up a world peace organization. There is no division of opinion in the United States as to wanting peace in the future. We have been through two world wars in the past quarter of a century, one of them not entirely completed as yet, and we do not want a third war.

But while Americans desire an international agreement or organization which will really promote a fair and just peace, they are not enamored of a new set-up which would do little more than enforce the territorial adjustments to come out of this war and guarantee them for the future.

So the officials in charge of the San Francisco meeting, if they want it really to succeed and "go over" with the American people, will see that it is not conducted in secret but that it has the spotlight of publicity. Secrecy will only add to suspicion and make any agreement arrived at have rougher going in the Senate.

At Dumbarton Oaks there was little publicity and there has been much suspicion as a result. After the meetings at Moscow, Teheran and Yalta, there was a big burst of public enthusiasm which was followed by disappointment as later news leaked out. The people have not forgotten that. What they will require now and during the San Francisco meeting is not propaganda (they will get plenty of that) but some real publicity.

Fortunately the chances are much better for getting publicity about San Francisco than has been the case in previous meetings where the delegates came from only the great powers. At the San Francisco meetings nations from all over the world will be present. Every little nation will have an axe to grind. The big powers may not pay much attention to them but their delegates will be able to talk, and talk they will, especially if they run into a series of disappointments. Under such circumstances it will be difficult to have a secret conference. The more secret it is officially, the more damage will be done by rumors. Therefore let us have some of those "open covenants, openly arrived at" which we used to talk so much about.

Hitler's 'New Order'—Germany In Ruins

When he plunged the world into this mighty struggle, Adolf Hitler promised the German people a "New Order" that would last a thousand years. And here it is, racing upon them—a "New Order" of rubble cities, towns and villages, of wrecked industries, of the irretrievable destruction of the whole economy of 80,000,000 people.

It is signaled in the raging fires that send up a black pall of smoke "20 miles wide" along the storied Rhine. It is driven home to the Germans day by day—almost hour by hour—as the holocaust is spread by the bombing and strafing of gigantic Allied air armadas.

If the German people let Hitler and Himmler hang on long enough Mr. Morgenthau's scheme to erase German industry can be stuffed away in a pigeon-hole and forgotten.

Patton and Patch are taking the Saar Basin industrial area apart. The Ruhr is next, with Hodges' First Army still further expanding the east bank Rhine bridgehead. And then the inner Reich will follow.

Nothing can stop it, Germany hasn't a snowball's chance to stave off defeat and all it means. Its people can only make it worse. Hitler told them that if the war was lost they'd be destroyed. He is seeing to it that his threat is being fulfilled.

It took the Germans 20 years to recover from the Thirty Years War. They'll be lucky, unless they get rid of their mad leaders in time, if they stage a comeback in even a thousand after this one. The battered Reichswehr may delay the inevitable end, but only to insure that the length and breadth of the Reich will be tumbled to more rubble, and the rubble into dust.

We've made our decision long since to fight this war until every evil thing Hitler stands for is wiped out. The German people had better make theirs—without Hitler—and soon.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

It is true that beef is scarce and pork is almost unobtainable but there still seems to be plenty of gravy around Washington.

They used to look upon Hitler as a big bad wolf. Now he is just a little chipmunk looking for a hole under a rail fence.

Do you remember the old-fashioned demagogue in Congress who told us the government would raise all the money it needed by taxing only the rich?

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Impressive Scene

By Yanks In Cologne

COLOGNE, March 22.—Five days after Cologne fell, troops from the divisions that captured the city took part in a celebration which was impressive because of its very lack of the kind of military swank that characterizes the enemy.

It was impressive, too, because of the fact that several thousand soldiers could gather in the Cologne Sports stadium while the enemy was still only a few miles away. Overhead, half a dozen P-47s flew in formation as an air cover, but this was more nearly a formal gesture than an actual necessity.

What Air Control Means
It was an extraordinary demonstration of what control of the air means. Without such control, as this war has proved repeatedly, nothing is possible. With control of the air, ground forces can begin destruction of the enemy.

So, in one sense, this informal celebration was a tribute to the U. S. Army Air Forces and the RAF. It was a tribute, too, to the boldness and daring of General H. H. Arnold, who planned the American air attack on a scale never dreamed of before.

However, it was the men sitting in the stands who had fought their way through blood and muck and stench to take the first major German city to fall to the Allied forces in the west. This was merely a moment of pause in a battle that would go on to the end.

In the stands were detachments from the 10th, the 11th and 12th Infantry Divisions and the Third Armored Division, all part of the Seventh Corps of the First Army. Units from the First Infantry Division, which took Bonn, were also present.

Salute American Flag
A regimental band played. The audience stood at salute while the American flag was raised on a flagpole at the end of the oval. Major General Joseph L. Collins, Seventh Corps commander, spoke briefly and simply about the principles for which the Americans are fighting and about the men who had died in order that we could be where we were on the banks of the Rhine.

In the stands, the GIs sat hunched forward, with elbows on knees. They looked neat and well fed, with the crime of battle long since removed. But there was no evidence of intensive spit and polish for the military show. This was just about as formal a moment as you would see in a war of specialized techniques which is being fought on our side by ingenious, resourceful civilians in uniform.

I have been impressed repeatedly by the fact that the GIs' discipline has been largely self-discipline, growing out of group drive on the one hand and on the other the intense competitiveness of the American spirit. In battle it is the American Army—the quality of self-will that imposes its own individual discipline. In the aftermath of battle, it can be a weakness, because then, with the urgency of need gone, discipline is relaxed.

Many unpleasant stories have come from France and now from occupied Germany—stories of grand pianos pushed out of second-story windows, of 18th-century furniture and Chinese delicately destroyed. Such stories must have been behind one of the rare editorials in a recent issue of Stars and Stripes. Thousand of American soldiers, said the editorial, are billeted in the homes of our friends and Allies. On how we treat those homes—on how we respond to their hospitality—much of the future depends. That, it seems to me, is a very timely warning.

Looting is a short and ugly word. No one would accuse the GI of being a looter. But he is an expert sponger, with unlimited resourcefulness in appropriating what he finds to make himself more comfortable. He is also an avid souvenir hunter, and sometimes the line between souvenir-hunting and just plain looting is thin.

As Stars and Stripes pointed out, this is a threat to Allied harmony and cooperation in the future—and for several reasons. One is the propaganda handle it gives the Germans in their determined effort to sway European opinion against Americans. An incessant theme on the German radio is the destruction of French, Belgian and Dutch cities by U. S. bombers.

When German troops occupied France, their behavior was rigidly correct in outward form. The impression that many of those who were not enslaved, even tortured, was that the Germans were none the less hated, the memory of that hate faded. And now, the Germans are trying hard to propagandize the contrast with the free-wheeling GIs, who tends to make up his own rules.

This will be an even more acute problem when some sort of armistice ends organized resistance in Germany. Then will come a severe test of our conduct in a Europe that has suffered so much.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7.13. Sun rises tomorrow 7.01.

Some people would get into jail or sumpin' if they said what they think.

Among other things promised when the war is over is more divorces.

Thousands of people do a lot of work for the Red Cross, but it takes a lot of money to do the things the Red Cross is called upon to do. Do all you can for it.

Fashion pays little attention to common sense.

DIDN'T SEE ALL
Teacher: "Well, Johnny, did you see all the animals at the Zoo?"
Johnny: "Well, no. I saw a sign that said 'To the Lions' one that said 'To the Bears' and one that said 'To the Elephants' and I found them alright, but I saw several signs that said 'To the Exit' and every-time I tried to find one, I was outside the Zoo!"

When jazz music gets better it will go out of style.

Drawing wages before you earn them is a good way to lose your job.

If you confine your desires to a few things you may get some of them.

Two business men were such enemies that one swore to shoot the other on sight.
Sure enough when he saw the other he pulled out a gun and aimed it.

"How much do you want for the gun?" asked the intended victim.
Later when twitted about the matter the gunman asked:
"How could I kill a man when he was talking business?"

So far nobody has gone through life without putting up some money on the wrong thing.

A man who is honest only part of the time will "trim" you worse than the man who is never honest.

Golfer to his caddy, as they set off from the first tee: "I'm very anxious to make a terrific drive. That's my wife's mother standing across the field there, and she thinks I can't play."

Caddy: "Sorry, guv'nor, but you can't expect to hit it at 200 yards."

Hi Hum says: "Any feller who don't get mad easy is a dangerous feller 't monkey with."

Never the less the wonderful electric home of the future will be incomplete without a selective doorbell which shocks a peedler when pushed.

Then there is the misunderstood widowed mother.
"Dorothy," she cried, entering the parlor suddenly, "Get off that soldier's lap right away!"
"Oh, mother," said the girl, "can't you find one of your own?"

Making love is like making pie. All you need is a lot of crust and some applesauce.

This country also has a surplus crop of rocking chair prophets.

Should your wardrobe require, instead, something more on the tailored motif, there is a wide selection among woollens of monotone and striped effects, either of which should be flattering to you, provided your coat is no longer than hip-length. Stripes are excellent for short women, since they tend to add height.

Cardigan jackets (without collar or lapels) are likewise excellent since they eliminate any conversation about the neck, thereby giving it the illusion of greater length.

If you choose a check, see that it is inconspicuous, with tiny blocks. If you cannot resist a bolero, select one with a plain skirt. Those with draped skirts will cut your already inadequate height.

Question: When an organist of a church plays for a wedding, should she be given a fee or a gift? If the former, how much? I would also like these same questions answered regarding the soloist.

Answer: No doubt the organist and the soloist have regular fees which they charge for this service. Ask them what these are. If they are friends of yours who will do this for friendship sake, a gift, rather than a fee should be given.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE PRECOCIOUS YOUNGSTER

The precocious child is in special need of discipline and training in self-reliance and responsibility and in getting on well with other children of his age. More often than not this is the very child least developed in these directions.

"Dear Dr. Myers: Perhaps you remember, I wrote you last year and told you of my boy 2½ years of age being far advanced both physically and mentally although he was born prematurely and was very delicate at birth.

"Now at 3½, he is still gaining by leaps and bounds. Memorizes long poems and stories, has a large vocabulary, sings songs, recognizes a tune and memorizes it at once. He spells words, knows his ABC's, makes his letters on the blackboard and can count up in the hundreds.

Sleep Problems
"But in one way he has advanced beyond my control—that is his afternoon nap and going to bed at night. If we leave him in his room he gets up turns on the light, gets his books and toys. If we have to use force he screams and cries until the neighbors think he is dying and he finally breaks down our resistance. He will go to sleep if I sit in the room and sing songs (which of course he thoroughly enjoys), however that takes about an hour before sleep claims him. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

From earlier letters from this mother I learned of the amazing skill and consequent success she had at helping her prematurely-born child. Often such children never catch up physically or mentally. That this child has not been successfully disciplined is not, of course, surprising.

In answering the mother I advised essentially as follows: Please cease to stimulate that child in formal learning. Encourage him in normal play with other children of his own age and in doing and making things with his hands.

Promote Calmness
Map out a program to get him calmed down and under control. Despite your statement to the contrary, he is a highly nervous child. Strive to induce a quiet period before his sleep time. Keep the radio silent while he is awake and let the family work for serenity.

Hold him strictly to routines, especially to nap and bedtime. Please study carefully the enclosed bulletin, "Sleep Problems."

Take the neighbors into your confidence and make clear to them your hope to protect them from needless annoyance later by setting this sleep problem once and for all even at the cost of some temporary disturbance for a few nights and let them know beforehand just what your plans are.

Accordingly, put that youngster to bed at regular times afternoon and evening. Tell him just what he must get up as he is put to bed and that you won't return. Keep your word. Let everything else go.

Be firm by always until he falls asleep. Each time he rises paddle him soundly right away. Use to punish him after he has been running around. Be sure he always gets an instant spanking when he gets up before the clock rings or you call him. No longer stay in the room with him at nap-time or bedtime.

As Mrs. Luce departed, Representative Albert Gore (D. of Tennessee) returned after spending three months overseas incognito with the Allied military government. Representative Everett D. Dirksen (R. of Illinois) has a sizeable traveling fund given him by his constituents, who want him to keep informed through personal travel.

Despite the agreement at Yalta for the post-war policing of Germany, Army officers are still deeply concerned over the policies which will dictate the kind of economy that nation will be allowed to have in the future.

The overall goal, of course, is to keep from the Germans the means to embark in the future on any major struggle with their neighbors, but the methods to be used in reaching this objective remain to be determined.

The officers believe that absolute suppression of all German production is not the answer, but in itself could well sow the seeds of future wars. Instead, they contend that Germany will be allowed the means of keeping her civilization alive.

They favor a program for close supervision of German post-war industry and science until the Nazi blight has disappeared from the nation's thinking.

CURB ON SKYSCRAPERS
Robert Moses, New York's park commissioner, intends to protect New Yorkers from some of the ill effects of their skyscrapers. He wants a ceiling placed on the height of tall buildings which fence in city squares and parks of small size.

Commissioner Moses is also concerned with the future plight of small business houses and residences on narrow streets which may be shut in by mountains of masonry.

Philadelphians also have an interest in the preservation of the usefulness of their squares and parks in the midst of the business section of the city. Rittenhouse Square and Washington Square give a great deal of enjoyment to residents as well as workers who can find time for a few minutes relaxation.

Commissioner Moses' proposed action indicates the rise of a new attitude toward better municipal living. A generation ago it would have been taken for granted that if a company wished to build a fifty story building it would have a right to locate it where it wished. Today the rights and privileges of the community are receiving attention.

MacArthur Likely Choice For Tokyo Drive
Philippine Commander Knows Ways Of Japs
Nurse Draft Bill Faces Senate Disapproval

By HELEN ESSARY

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The odds are now greatly in favor of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to lead the drive into Tokyo as the fighting fronts move closer and closer to Japan.

President Roosevelt hinted in his report to Congress that MacArthur would get the nod for the post and Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz just about clinched it when he said that the invasion of the enemy home islands will be an Army function.

While Washington remains mum, the jittery Tokyo radio's two chief guests are that American forces will strike next at the Chinese coast or the Japanese homeland. One thing the Japs can bank on is stepped-up bombing of their industrial potential.

Rough Going in Nurse Draft
Despite the heavy majority by which it passed the House, the nurse draft bill faces rough going in the Senate. Senators generally are no more enthusiastic about drafting nurses for the armed services than they have been about drafting labor to work in war plants.

As a result, the bill is expected to undergo painstaking scrutiny in the Senate military affairs committee and on the Senate floor.

The House has been disposed to go along with the military on home front mobilization legislation. But the Senate is inclined to question the judgment of the military on such matters.

Look for much of the past animosity between the White House and Congress to disappear as the Dumbarton Oaks proposals and various treaties are submitted to the Senate.

The tip-off was President Roosevelt's prompt appearance before a joint session of Congress immediately after his return from the Crimea conference to explain the Yalta decisions.

Senator Robert A. Taft (R. of Ohio) said: "He didn't tell me anything I didn't already know." But Taft's criticism was mild as compared with the raging anger in Congress a year ago. It merely indicates that Republican wrath has subsided considerably. In fact many Republicans joined most of the Democrats in Congress in praising Mr. Roosevelt's discussion.

Junkies Planned
As the European war approaches victory, more and more congressmen are expected to slip quietly out of the country for a personal inspection of affairs on the other side of the Atlantic.

Representative Clair Boothe Luce (R. of Connecticut, New England's blond contribution to the House, has flitted to London and will visit Italy before returning to Washington.

As Mrs. Luce departed, Representative Albert Gore (D. of Tennessee) returned after spending three months overseas incognito with the Allied military government. Representative Everett D. Dirksen (R. of Illinois) has a sizeable traveling fund given him by his constituents, who want him to keep informed through personal travel.

Governor Urges Labor Measures

Martin Blasts Labor, Industrial And State Leaders For Labor Legislation Laxity

HARRISBURG, March 22.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin today blasted labor, industrial and state leaders for failing to draft acceptable labor legislation and warned he would appear before the general assembly next week unless they submitted recommendations.

The governor pointed out he had called for liberalized programs in unemployment and workmen's compensation as well as revision of occupational disease benefits more than 11 weeks ago in his opening address to the assembly.

"In my message," he said, "it was suggested that compensation and kindred legislation be liberalized and that labor and industry get together and formulate a program and if that were not done I would submit a program to the legislature."

"I will do this in the coming week providing the groups collaborating on a program do not report," the governor declared.

Conferees included Secretary of Labor and Industry William H. Chesnut, John Phillips, President of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO), James McDevitt, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) and Lester Thomas, legislative representative of the United Mine Workers of America.

Christ's entry into Jerusalem.

"Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."—Matt. 21:9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 25 is Matthew 21, 26, 27:1-56; the memory verse being Matt. 21:9. "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.")

We can just sketch the highlights of this long lesson. It starts at the town of Bethphage, at the foot of the Mount of Olives, when Jesus sent two disciples to the town to find an ass and colt and bring them to Him. If anyone said anything to them they were to say, "The Lord hath need of them."

The disciples obeyed implicitly, and when the colt was brought they threw their garments upon it, and mounted Jesus upon it. Others cut branches and strewed them in His way, while others preceded Him down the road waving palm branches and crying, "Hosanna to the son of David; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

"And when He was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?" Next Jesus went to the temple, and found there men trading in the large outer court, called the "court of the Gentiles." There was buying and selling, and doubtless loud and angry voices, and Jesus cast all the bargainers out of the temple, overthrew the tables and seats of them that sold doves. "It is written," He said, "My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

Jesus Heals

The blind and the lame came to Jesus there and He healed them, and the children—boys—cried, saying, "Hosanna to the son of David." The chief priests and scribes were very much annoyed. They said to Jesus, "Hearest Thou what these say?" And Jesus answered, "Yea, have ye never read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?" And He left them and went to Bethany.

When Jesus had finished telling parables He told His disciples that in two days would be the feast of the passover and after that He would be betrayed to His enemies. In fact, the chief priests and scribes had already met with Caiaphas, high priest, to consult how they might take Him and kill Him. "Not on the feast day," they said, "lest there be an uproar among the people."

When Jesus was in the house of Simon the leper, a woman came to Him holding an alabaster box of precious ointment. She poured the ointment on His head, which angered the disciples, who said she should have sold it and given the money to the poor. But Jesus gently chided them, saying, "Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good work upon me. For ye have the poor always with you; but Me ye have not always... she hath poured this ointment on My body, she did it for My burial."

Just then Judas Iscariot slipped away, went to the chief priests and agreed to deliver his Friend and Master up to them for 30 pieces of silver.

The Last Supper

That evening Jesus sat down to the feast with the 12, and He "took bread, and blessed it and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, take, eat; this is My body." And He took the cup, gave thanks and passed it saying, "Drink ye all of it; For this is My blood... which is shed for many."

Later they sang a hymn and then Jesus took Peter and the two sons of Zebedee and went to the Mount of Olives, where Jesus prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane and the disciples failed Him by sleeping while He prayed.

After this a multitude, led by Judas, came upon the three and Judas, kissing his Master, pointed Him out to His enemies, and Christ was led away to trial. First Jesus was tried before the high priest, who asked his witnesses, "What think ye?" all said, "He is guilty of death."

Next morning they led Him, bound, before Pilate, who could find no fault with Him but the fickle multitude clamored for his death so Pilate washed his hands of the whole matter, and Jesus was led away to His death on the Cross.

In the meantime Judas repented of his perfidy, and took back the 30 pieces of silver to the priests. They would not accept them, so Judas threw them in the temple and went out and hanged himself.

Jesus, without friends, reviled and tortured, was nailed to the cross, and when at last He was dead, a great darkness fell upon the earth, the veil in the temple was torn from top to bottom, and "the earth did quake and rocks were rent." Too late those who had watched his agony said awestricken—"Truly this was the Son of God." (Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

(Special To The News)

WITH THE U. S. ARMY FORCES IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—The ingenuity and resourcefulness with which Master Sgt. LeRoy Ike of New Castle, Pa., kept combat planes in the air has won him the bronze star medal, his commanding officer announced today.

M-Sgt. Ike, flight chief of a heavy bombardment squadron in the South Pacific, was cited for designing tools, chasing others and improving extra parts as his squadron switched from one type of plane to another, and as the outfit changed bases.

PROPOSE 16,752 AIRFIELDS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—An aviation program to provide a landing field for each of the nation's 16,752 communities was proposed by a spokesman for the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. W. T. Piper, who is also president of the Piper Aircraft Corp., told a senate commerce subcommittee that the aircraft industry believes there is a "dire need" for the Federal government to start a complete landing facility program, providing both for commercial aircraft and for personal planes.

Meanwhile Chairman L. Welch

Pogue of the Civil Aeronautics Board, said acceptance of the international civil aviation convention would be a "milestone of progress in aviation and international cooperation."

U. S. Representatives Confer With Pope

ROME, March 22.—(INS)—Pope Pius XII was closeted for one hour today with U. S. Presidential Representative Edward J. Flynn and U. S. Ambassador to Italy Myron Taylor. Vatican circles expressed confidence that Flynn, just returned from a presidential mission to Moscow, had achieved at least partial success in preparing the basis for a Russo-Vatican rapprochement.

Subject of Flynn's discussion with the Pope was not revealed.

Flynn, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, arrived in Italy Tuesday night by plane, official announcement said yesterday.

With Victory Gardeners

By CHARLES G. LINDNER
City Chairman, State Council of Defense

Out of all the erroneous, conflicting and confusing reports about food surpluses has finally come a clarification that should leave no doubt as to the necessity for continuing Victory gardens during the present season.

Major C. S. Bryan, Q. M. C., recently told the National Victory Garden Institute meeting in New York that, "If the Army's food stocks could be transferred overnight to American pantry shelves, there would not be enough to last the civilian population of the nation a single week. . . . Above all let us hope the erroneous forecast of surpluses will not cause a letdown in the production of food."

Before the recent National Victory Garden Conference held in Washington, D. C., Judge Marvin Jones, war food administrator, stated, "History shows that nations with ample food supplies are ones that win victories. We cannot afford to gamble. . . . Home gardeners produced over 40 per cent of the fresh vegetables last year and we are asking the mto equal this record in 1945."

So make your plans, figure your layout and the varieties and types of vegetables you are going to grow and plan to harvest a full crop. Store and can your surplus. Use your part to aid this vitally important task of becoming an individually inspired "food factory".

Gardeners who have fought a losing battle with Brer Rabbit in the past year may find fresh hope in the latest recommendation for rabbit repellents. Take two ounces of powdered alum, mix thoroughly with one pound of fine tobacco dust and apply with a duster to top of plants or upper surfaces of the leaves. This must be renewed after every rain. A light covering of hydrated lime applied in the same manner is quite effective.

If you prefer a spray, take two tablespoonsful of aluminum sulphate and one tablespoonful of soap and dissolve in one gallon of water, use as a fine spray, agitate solution frequently to keep material in suspension. Upper surface of leaves must be thoroughly covered.

Those unable to raise cabbage due to infection of soil with the common club root, may try a method widely used by English miners in planting they add a pinch of carbide, such as they use in their miners lamp) placing it in the hole when setting out the plants, and after adding a little water immediately firm the soil about the plants. While we have not tried this method, it comes so highly recommended that we gladly pass it on to you.

Show, the "poor man's fertilizer" has come to the aid of Victory gardeners by enriching the soil with needed and scarce nitrates.

Proceedings of parliament in Southern Rhodesia were twice interrupted recently by thunderstorms which drowned the voices of the members.

Nearly $20,000,000 was placed in horse race bets in Elre in the last year.

The service is to take place at Temple Israel, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock with members of the Sisterhood in charge of the service. Speaker of the evening will be Mrs. George Kline, who will speak on the subject of "The Sisterhood in the Community."

Representing the Sisterhood, Mrs. Harry Robbins, Mrs. Irvin Robbins and Mrs. R. Rubenson will serve as hostesses at a reception to be held in the Temple social rooms.

Dr. Wise, known as the father of Reform Judaism in the United States, won lasting fame as a great organizing genius not only in the history of Judaism in the United States but also in the long story of Jewish progress.

Born March 29, 1819 in Steingrub, Bohemia, Dr. Wise came to the United States in 1846 in search of political freedom and religious liberalism. The institutions which he founded bear testimony to his success. They include the Union of American Hebrew congregations, the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, pioneer Jewish Theological Seminary in this country, and the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Army Makes Call For Uniforms Of Discharged G.I.'s

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Discharged soldiers who have been wondering how to keep the moths out of their uniforms this summer can do just that, along with saving the Army millions of dollars and relieving the woolen shortage, says Major General Philip Hayes, head of the Third Service Command.

The return of all items of clothing, especially the woolens, for reconditioning, cleaning, and reissue to G.I.'s still in service, would help relieve the already hard-pressed woolen industry now manufacturing Army goods.

If boxed so that the total weight of the package does not exceed 30 pounds, the clothing may be shipped collect from any railway express agency, the Third Service Command announcement continues. It should be addressed: "Attention: Quartermaster, Clothing and Equipment Classification Officer" and mailed to the nearest Army post.

Alligators Help Jap Officer Join His 'Ancestors'

Jap Officer In Manila Prefers Alligators To Capture By Americans

By SGT. HENRY MCLEMORE
(Army Combat Correspondent)
(Distributed by International News Service)
WITH THE 37TH DIVISION IN MANILA, March 22.—The Japanese have shown splendid imagination in this war in disposing of themselves when trapped by Americans. They have cuddled grenades to their bosoms, skewered themselves on swords, cut their throats with trench knives, jumped off cliffs and buildings, and waded serenely into the ocean.

But it remained for a Japanese lieutenant, while fighting in the walled city, to devise the most novel means of joining his ancestors. The lieutenant was one of a large force left to defend the aquarium, and to its credit the group did a good job of it. After fierce fighting, the Yanks, in a frontal assault, fought their way through its gates.

The attack was made by a platoon under the command of Lt. James R. Hatchett of Union City, Tenn. The Americans went in with everything from bazookas to flame throwers.

Sight To See
"It was a sight to see," Sgt. Oscar Smith of Valley Head, W. Va., said. "Fish and Japs and water and glass were flying everywhere. We thought we had the place all cleaned out when we rooted out this Jap officer."

"He came out of nowhere, and before we could take a crack at him he started scaling the little wall that was around the alligator pool. Somebody was drawing a bead on him when someone else yelled: 'Don't shoot the little so and so. Let the Japs have him!'"

"I wouldn't want to swear to it," said Pfc. Frank Lacy of Tyler, Tex., "but I believe I saw one of our boys give him a boost, just to help him get in there with those Japs. Was that you, Herbert?"

Pfc. Herbert Burger of Drums, Pa., said it wasn't but that he would have been glad to.

"There were three big Japs in that pool," said Pfc. Julian Gudegg of Maysville, Ky., "I heard a yell and a splash when the Jap hit, but when I looked in there later there was nothing but the Japs."

Only Cold Steel Can Reform Japs

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal declared Wednesday that no persuasion except that expressed by "bullets, bombs and cold steel" will reform the Japs.

"The Japanese," he told a Red Cross luncheon, "have given evidence that they cannot be considered as military opponents in the ordinary sense. Their soldiers are driven by a combination of mysticism and fanatic frenzy which drags war down to a low level of human debauchery."

"They are devoid of any of the standards of what we call sportsmanship. Under the pressure of such defeats as they have sustained at Iwo Jima and in the Philippines, their fighting methods have developed even lower into the abyss of savagery. There is no persuasion, I fear, except that expressed by bullets, bombs and cold steel which will reform them."

FIREMEN DISCOVER ROBBERY
PITTSBURGH, March 22.—(INS)—When firemen got to Kay's Service Station in Sheraden today, they found more than a fire—the door had been jimmied and a coin box stolen from the wall. The blaze which firemen said might have been started by burglars, caused an estimated damage of $500.

Small Business

Industrial Planners Face Necessity
Of Preventing High
Prices

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—(INS)—Industrial planners face the alternative of giving small business the same economic advantages as big business or bringing on a national wave of high prices, monopolies, unemployment and strikes, it was maintained today by Maury Maverick, chairman of the Smaller War Plants Corp.

Maverick told Philadelphia Rotarians that "more than 500,000 small business have closed their doors since Pearl Harbor."

"We need these back, plus 500,000 more after the war, if our economic system is to progress to the point where full time peace employment is to be a living reality," the former San Antonio governor said.

A five-point program stressing the need of small business for increased loans, freedom of competition, participation in world trade, free technical advice and opportunities for post-war rehabilitation of veterans was urged by Maverick.

Rates Among Best Of Weather Forecasters

MAXWELL FIELD, Ala.—Rated 25th among 3,200 weather forecasters, Master Sgt. Morgan V. Jones is really a member of the "elite" when it comes to meteorology.

The Army constantly keeps tabs on how well their officers and enlisted men are forecasting. Three times each week, every man sends a sealed "short range forecast" to the Office of Flying Safety, at Winston-Salem, N. C. The course in advance for these forecasts change weekly, from 12 hours to 36, 24, and 48 hours, and the sections of the country under observation also are changed.

Sgt. Jones's forecasts are accurate enough to place him at the top of the list. Formerly a teacher at George Washington Junior High School in New Castle, Pa., he is now being transferred to Greensboro, N. C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan J. Jones, 1301 Wilmington avenue.

Dulles Rejects Suggestion To Join In Parley

WASHINGTON, March 22—(INS)—John Foster Dulles, New York lawyer and foreign policy advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the national campaign rejected a suggestion that he attend the United Nations conference in San Francisco in an official capacity.

In a letter to Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) Mich., Dulles said that he believes he can be more effective in an unofficial status.

Dulles replied to an invitation from Vandenberg to attend the conference April 25 as an advisor to the American delegation or to Vandenberg personally.

Dulles replied: "I greatly appreciate the consideration being given this matter by the State Department, yourself and others. It is, however, my preference to have no official status at San Francisco."

"For several years now I have, in various non-official capacities, worked for the creation of a world organization dedicated to securing a just and durable peace. I think that, if I continue in that way, it will best serve the great cause we all have at heart."

Dulles, it is understood, will attend the conference as chairman of a united church committee on international policy.

MISTER PELTZ IS PEEVED!

Mister P. sells charts. Pie-charts, bar-charts, fever-charts—in pink and green and purple—proving anything you want.

He has a nice new chart on the cost of living. It shows the price of practically everything curving sharply up after war began.

But one price stubbornly stays down at pre-war levels. It's the price of electricity. It upsets the neat cost-of-living curves. It upsets P. P. Peltz. He's peeved.

We're sorry to offend Mister Peltz, but glad that we've been able to keep electricity plentiful and cheap when so many things are scarce and expensive.

It hasn't been easy to serve busy homes and booming war plants at the same time—with the friendly, efficient service we like to give. But all our folks have pitched in and worked hard to make it possible.

Fear Guerrillas May Attempt To Rule Philippines

By LEON PEARSON

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(INS)—Government officials were in possession of information today indicating that subversive elements among the Philippine Guerrillas may attempt to overthrow the government of President Sergio Osmeña.

In such a case, it was believed that military intervention by United States forces may be required.

The fear was felt in Washington that guerrilla forces may be better organized than government forces in the Philippines and may attempt the overthrow of Osmeña because of his association with the regime of the late President Manuel Quezon.

That regime is still regarded by radical elements in the island as being too closely associated with the "Spanish clique" which held a tight control over the government in pre-World War II days.

Hope Movement Halted
There was considerable hope, on the other hand, that such an insurgent movement may be arrested by action of Osmeña in appointing a cabinet drawn almost entirely from resistance forces who remained in the Philippines during the occupation period.

This point was stressed by Philippine Commissioner Carlos P. Romulo, who told a news conference.

"The new cabinet is 100 per cent loyal, not only in words but in three years of suffering and fighting, living in huts like hunted animals."

Romulo added that all members of the new cabinet have either resisted the Japanese actively, or, by going into the hills, have refused to collaborate.

Osmeña returned to the Philippines with General MacArthur and promptly proceeded to establish a new government. It is well-known that he has been faced not only with the difficult political problem of forming a stable government in a confused situation, but also by the economic problems resulting from desperate shortages of supplies.

MARINE APPEARS TO HAVE ALIBI

JOLIET, Ill., March 22.—(INS)—Pte. Leo K. Kurtz of the U. S. Marine Corps appeared today to have a pretty fair alibi for oversteering his furlough from Camp Pendleton, Ore. Here is what he wrote the commanding officer:

"Health authorities of Will county have posted on the door of my home at 1715 Maple road, Joliet, a sign forbidding anyone from leaving or entering."

"You see, my son, Charles, 6 years old, has smallpox. It will be another 15 days before the sign will be taken down. Of course, if you so order, I will not allow the sign to stop me from departing."

IT COULD HAPPEN TO YOU!

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS)—Manufacturers had a tip-off today on what housewives want most as soon as wartime restrictions on civilian production are lifted.

A paper read before the second annual women's home safety conference in New York City listed, among other things: portable fire extinguishers for each room; non-tipable high chairs; attractive but non-inflammable hearth rugs; sliding doors for kitchen cabinets; locked drawers for poisons in the family medicine cabinet; and non-tip and non-buckling pots and pans.

Campbell Nurse Recalls Life In Indian Hospital

Ohio Girl Returns To Country
After 29 Months Of War And Rain In India

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., March 22.—(INS)—First Lieut. Rosemarie Vertucci, 25-year-old Army nurse from Campbell, O., today told of her service in war-torn India—29 months packed with action, rain, mud, insects and disease.

Lieut. Vertucci, who returned to this country several months ago, is now assigned to the Valley Forge General Hospital at Phoenixville. From her station near the historic battleground of the Revolutionary War, the pretty Army nurse looked back on a far different battleground on the other side of the world.

Soon after her enlistment upon her graduation from St. Elizabeth's hospital, at Youngstown, O., Lt. Vertucci was assigned to the Central hospital at Karachi, a besieged British post in India.

Ants Ate The Silk

For almost two years she worked in the operating room there. The climate was "devastating," she said, while ants and crickets ate any silk or rayon garments in reach.

"We bought most of our personal things and wearing apparel from the natives," she related, "and a pair of stockings cost $10 in our money."

In January, 1944, she was transferred to a hospital in Lado, near the Burma road. The rains hit Lado at the same time she did—and never let up until April.

"The Chinese names of patients were unreadable in English," she said, "so the patients were identified by numbers painted on their arms."

"But these were always rubbing off and it was a major problem to keep the patients from getting mixed up. From time to time, too, a whole bamboo ward would collapse from the rain, and many of the patients would wander off—not to be found again."

"We ate mostly canned goods," Lt. Vertucci continued, "but the Chinese patients ate rice for breakfast, dinner, and supper. It was carried into the wards in pails, and it was almost impossible, no matter what the condition of the patients, to keep them in bed when the pails were brought in. Men with abdominal injuries, who should have been on liquids for days, would get to their feet and try to force their way to the rice pail."

Personal belongings, as well as hospital equipment, had to be kept under lock and key, she recalled.

Personnel Counselor At Alameda
Naval Air Station

High praise is given Mrs. Edith Sankey Dilley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sankey of 217 East Laurel avenue, a former teacher at Union high school, for the fine job she is doing as civilian personnel counselor for the salvage and reclamation buildings at the naval air station, Alameda, Calif.

In an article in "The Carrier," which is issued at the Alameda naval air station, she is given credit for boosting the morale of the salvage and reclamation buildings, which were moved from the main station to an isolated point on the outskirts. Her cheery disposition and sympathetic assistance with problems of the employees helped them over rough spots.

Mrs. Dilley was a member of the faculty at Union high school prior to her marriage to Lt. Willard Dilley, who is an instructor in aerial gunnery at the naval air station.

Bonfield Boys Meet In Italy

Mr. and Mrs. Ninzi Bonfield, of 401 North Cascade street, have received word that their two sons, Sgt. Frank J. Bonfield and Pvt. Samuel W. Bonfield, have met for the first time in two years in Italy. Both brothers were surprised when Sgt. Bonfield happened to be sent on special duty to a little town, where Pvt. Bonfield was stationed. RUHR DISTRICT

The shell-shocked Nazi propaganda machine today cast nervous eyes at the American armies on the Rhine directly west of the Ruhr, once Germany's greatest industrial area and the cockpit of her war machine.

The next Allied blow, the Nazi radio says, may well fall upon this Ruhr-bombed valley, the combined Detroit and Pittsburgh of the Third Reich. Extending along the 142-mile Ruhr river, the region embraces a score of cities and towns.

from Duisburg to Dortmund, a series of coal fields, hearths, blast furnaces, foundries and factories. Essen, home of the great Krupp works, already is under American shell fire.

Before the last war, the Ruhr depended largely on iron ore from Alsace-Lorraine and when this territory went back to France the Germans attempted to organize the valley on a more independent basis. In the postwar reparations, economic and industrial tangle, French troops moved into the Ruhr to control its output. The Germans countered with strikes and passive resistance, developing a three-year struggle which cost much money and bloodshed and was a deciding factor in the collapse of the German mark.

Later, Hitler's war-minded economists solved the valley's problems by running its industries at high speed to build Europe's greatest war machine. And after the battle started, the RAF and the USAAF countered with another Ruhr blueprint—ceaseless bombing.

The most important industry of the Ruhr is mining. There are large deposits of tin, silver, copper, lead, zinc, antimony, bismuth, wolfram, gold and borate of lime in the country.

Six Local Stores May Get License Warnings

License warnings will be issued to about six grocery stores who were in violation of OPA regulations during both the March, 1945 check-up and the March, 1944 survey, members of the Price Panel staff said today.

Altogether, only 27 stores were found in violation, out of the 248 checked in the recent survey. Eleven did not have their community price lists displayed, nine failed to label grades of meat, and seven did not have their OPA group prices posted.

Fugitives Tell Fantastic Tale

Reveal Amazing Paradox On Jersey Island—Double Captivity Of Islanders Prevail

By PAUL ABLEMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 22.—A fantastic tale of the German-occupied Channel Islands was told today by one of five men who recently escaped from Jersey.

The story of the islands is one of the most amazing paradoxes of this war. The British inhabitants are the prisoners of sixteen thousand German troops who are themselves virtually the prisoners of the allies.

Robinson Crusoe island, as Jersey has been named by its own inhabitants, is an isle of improvisation. There is no fuel except small supplies of petrol left on the island. Hundreds of small, carved, wooden windmills dot Jersey. They are owned by both Germans and islanders, and their purpose is to provide electricity. They are used to turn car dynamos, home-made dynamos, anything that will produce current. When the wind is blowing these miniature power plants provide enough juice to keep a flashlight bulb burning. Candles cost four dollars each.

Food Is Short

Since matches cost seventy-five cents a box, and lighter flints are a dollar and a half each, strange devices are used to provide a light. A tube containing petrol soaked cotton wool is connected to the leads of a magneto. A spark bridges the gap, the petrol flares up, and everyone within range rushes for a light before the flame goes out.

Although food is desperately short on Jersey, the inhabitants still drink tea. The island brand is made of grated and baked carrots. Bread is unknown. Potatoes have replaced it and to make them more appetizing, a whole series of new recipes has been developed by the islanders.

Pork sometimes can be obtained for five and a half dollars a pound, beef is four dollars a pound, and the island dogs and cats are disappearing fast.

Stealing from the Germans is condoned by the islanders. The only serious offense left is collaborating.

Infantry Concert Is Not 'Long Hair'

Eighteen Soldier Musicians To Appear In Cathedral Saturday Night, March 24

Symphony orchestras need not be "long hair". If you are not hep to this jive what we mean to say is that symphony orchestras need not be high bowed, stuffy or dull and uninteresting. They can play a program that will include some of the finer things in music but at the same time lighten the whole with numbers by such popular composers as Jerome Kern, Cole Porter, David Rose, Morton Gould or Hoagy Carmichael.

That's the idea of the program of the Infantry Concert Group which comes to the Cathedral Saturday night, March 24. The program runs from light popular numbers to the heavier works of the old masters. All of it will be done well for the Infantry Concert Group is composed of 18 soldiers who in civilian life were members of the famous symphonies of the United States.

Seats for the concert Saturday night are for war bond workers and members of the Metropolitan Concert Guild. The sponsors of the concert are the war finance committee and the guild. The concert starts at 8 o'clock and will last approximately one hour and 45 minutes.

Tickets are being distributed to bond workers by district heads and treasury representatives in the plants. Members of the Metropolitan Concert Guild need show only their membership cards.

So, whether you like your music in the groove or out of the classics you'll be satisfied with the Infantry Concert Group Saturday night.

'Jeeter Lester' Heads Deshon Annex Show

Jim Barton, Star Of 'Tobacco Road', Delights Wounded Veterans Here

Wednesday afternoon's USO show at Deshon Annex proved to be a surprise package for the veterans stationed there. Heading the list of talent that appeared was Jim Barton, one of America's really great character actors, star of "Tobacco Road" for 5½ years and before that a veteran of the footlights for over a quarter of a century.

For his act he went back to the days of vaudeville and did a routine that one day packed the Palace and "wowed" the road. He took more encores than we counted and could have been there yet had he wanted to.

The Conner Twins, (and they really are) were on the bill with a singing act and they did "The Trolley Song" that not even Judy Garland could top. Joe Tremm and his fiddle were good for laughs—and some good music too. Ben Berl, a sad faced juggler, had the vets howling for more, and Rex Owen did a pantomime act aided by sound effects that was good. Betty Austin "emceed" the show and the unit was managed by Ralph Matson. From curtain to curtain the bill was the kind of show that is just what the doctor ordered for hospital units. This unit is billed as "Fancy That" and the men did, all of it.

The show was presented in the gymnasium with the new stage in use again, and this time, fully lighted. The stage attracted the comment of the actors who said it was one of the best they had played in eight months of tramping over the United States playing hospitals.

Ceiling Price Violation Cases Are Filed Here

O.P.A. Enters Charges Of Ceiling Price Violations Against Three Ellwood City Dealers

Lawrence county's court became in effect a Federal court today when three ceiling price violation cases were filed in the name of Chester Bowles, administrator of the Office of Price Administration, against three Ellwood City meat dealers. The cases are signed by John A. Metz Jr., district enforcement attorney for the Pittsburgh district, and presented by Attorney Ralph C. Davis of the OPA office in Pittsburgh.

The three alleged violators are Nick Lanzl, trading as the Forest Hills Market, A. E. Neiminger trading as Al's Market, and Martha Eicholtz, trading as the Ewing Park Market. All of them are charged with price violations between October 1944 and February 1945.

Judges W. Walter Bingham and John G. Lamore set on banc to receive the cases but first questioned the authority of a state court to try Federal cases. Mr. Davis replied that the law gave jurisdiction to state courts and that similar cases were being heard in Pittsburgh.

Some discussion was had upon the number of days permitted for the defendants to file answers and it was finally agreed that the cases would be heard on April 9 at 10 a. m.

If the government is upheld in its contention that the ceiling prices have been violated, the defendants can be suspended for periods ranging up to one year.

Gas Coupons' Deadline Set

WASHINGTON, March 22.—"B-5", "C-5", "E-1", "R-1" gasoline ration coupons and all "D" coupons not serially numbered will become invalid after March 31, the OPA announced today.

The action, the agency said, is in line with its long established policy of periodic invalidation of gasoline coupons.

Most of the coupons already have been used up, OPA said. Holders of invalidated coupons that represent an unexpired ration may exchange them for valid coupons at their local boards.

"B" and "C" coupons are for occupational driving; "D" coupons for motorcycles, and "E" and "R" coupons for equipment not operated on highways.

SISTER KENNY TO LEAVE U. S.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 22.—(INS)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, world-famous Australian nurse, reiterated today her decision to leave America, declaring the medical profession generally had treated with indifference her discoveries in the successful treatment of infantile paralysis.

Two superior court judges are to be voted for, state wide. In the county at large there is a judge, a sheriff, a district attorney, a register and recorder, and two jury commissioners.

In the city of New Castle there are two councilmen, one city controller, and four school directors to be named. Aldermen are to be selected in the first, third and fourth wards.

In the eight boro there is a burgess to be chosen in each, an auditor, a tax collector, school director and justices of the peace in some.

Over and above all of the offices named there are three election officials, a judge, and two inspectors to be named in every one of the ninety-nine precincts in the county.

But it still looks like a quiet primary.

MANY TO BE ELECTED

Ask the man in the street and he will tell you it will be a quiet primary election on June 19 and he is probably right. Give him a chance to expound and he will continue by saying the war has the attention of the people. And he is probably right again. But if he says there are few offices to fill this year, you've got him.

In Lawrence County alone there are 546 offices to be voted for. You think not? Wanna bet? The total is just that many, although many of them are not major offices. If you're interest here's the list.

Two superior court judges are to be voted for, state wide. In the county at large there is a judge, a sheriff, a district attorney, a register and recorder, and two jury commissioners.

In the city of New Castle there are two councilmen, one city controller, and four school directors to be named. Aldermen are to be selected in the first, third and fourth wards.

Loyal Order Of Moose Sponsor Deshon Party

WAC Detachment From Butler
Special Guests At Monthly Party
At Sylvan Heights

Sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose No. 51, a party was staged in the Sylvan Heights club house Wednesday night for the veterans of Deshon hospital. Present also were 25 WACs from Deshon General hospital with their commanding officer, Captain Ivy Courtney.

A real cold cut feed was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Haycock, managers of the club, and for entertainment the Moose brought in their own orchestra and a floor show from Youngstown. The club assembly room was packed with the vets and the WACs and their enjoyment was evident.

For the Moose, Norman Freeborne and David Jones had charge of the show arrangements and added one of their own comedians to the bill. Harry Ross, Captain Jack Sedwick, commanding the annex; Captain J. Kenneth Vanderhof and Lieut. Leo T. Nealon were present and from the Deshon hospital were Captain Joseph Elliott and a group of brother officers.

Wednesday night's party was the monthly affair. Each month a party is sponsored by any group interested and the returns in satisfaction loom much larger than the money represented.

In the 12 years Moine has operated his liquor monopoly the state has realized $35,250,240.76 above expenses.

More German Peace Feelers Are Denied

LONDON, March 22.—(INS)—Official circles disclaimed knowledge today of a report that the German minister to Ireland had presented a peace bid to Premier Eamon De Valera, to be transmitted to the United States.

The London Daily Telegraph said that the report had emanated from Paris where it had been learned authoritatively that the Nazis had also attempted to put out peace feelers through the Vatican. It was said that the pope refused to forward any peace proposals to the allies.

Accidental poisoning kills about 1200 persons every year in the United States.

WMC Decision Spurs Baseball In New Season

Manpower Commission Rules Ball Players Can Leave Jobs At War Plants

BELIEVE BASEBALL BUILDER OF MORALE

By EARL MARKKREIS
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Baseball men cracked up a timely assist today for the War Manpower Commission after the agency removed a major manpower obstacle by ruling that players may return to the game from off-season employment without being classified as job-leavers.

The WMC decision specifically exempted all bona fide players, coaches and managers from the necessity of obtaining certificates of availability from their employers to return to their "principal employment"—baseball.

Morale Builder
WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt, who recently returned from a European battlefield tour, polished off his good news for the game with a general endorsement of the White House theme that baseball is a prime wartime morale builder and should be continued.

He cited widespread demands from domestic and overseas troops for its continuance, and added: "There is considerable evidence that baseball adds to the morale of the home front in wartime, and that, therefore, there is real justification for this action."

McNutt defined eligible players, coaches and managers as those who were in baseball last year and have "contractual relationships with a particular club either in the form of a continuing contract for two or more seasons or of an option for the current season."

Although this provision removed a source of concern for many players working in war plants, it left undefined the question of baseball's status as a war industry.

Lenient Attitude
Players who are physically qualified for military service will still be subject to induction, but draft boards are expected to use the ruling as a guide for a more lenient attitude in choosing selectees.

McNutt simultaneously warned the "groundkeepers, ushers, ticket sellers and other baseball employees including members of the playing staffs, must obtain referrals from their employers. He said most of these positions will have to be filled by women or part-time workers.

OUTLOOK DISMAL ON BASEBALL BATS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Because, as one Government official put it, "the Army is taking almost everything in sight," the baseball bat situation for 1945 is not too promising.

A WPB source revealed that although production of bats probably will be higher this year than last, civilians will receive less, if any. He pointed out that from 75 to 80 percent of all available sports equipment is going to the armed forces and this figure is expected to go up to 90 and even 100 percent in some cases.

The major and minor leagues are not worried over the shortage, however, as they reported enough on hand for 1945.

NEW CASTLE NEWS SPORTS

CAMPFIRE CORNER

SAFETY IN WATER

A few columns ago we discussed safety on the water. In this sequel we'll talk about preserving your life after you're immersed, when your future depends solely upon your own good sense and ability to take care of yourself.

As a preliminary, it may interest you to learn that in a midwestern state where conditions are more or less typical of those throughout the country save in the arid regions, there were 196 drownings in 1944. Nearly all, if not all, of these, even five attributed to "child play", could have been avoided. Thirty-four of the fatal accidents occurred during the use of boats, canoes or rafts, and five of these resulted from defective craft. Thirty-three persons drowned while swimming, 25 while on summer fishing trips and five more during winter angling jaunts. Ninety-four of the drownings took place during "non-recreational activities". I have no data on how many persons were drowned throughout the United States last year, but these statistics from one state indicate the toll was heavy.

Basic Rules
Application of two primary and basic rules could have saved many of those lives. Rule No. 1 is: Learn to Swim. No. 2: Don't Lose Your Head. When I say learn to swim I don't mean acquire the ability to take a few strokes, tire out and touch bottom and safety within the span of five minutes or so, panting and exerting yourself with all the abandon of a strained promise in the meantime. I mean learn to swim in the sense that you are at home on and in the water—stroking along in a convenient manner, afloat on your back, treading water, swimming underneath the surface, diving and performing all the other simple feats without more ado than as though you were walking. In fact, good swimmers and that doesn't necessarily mean a speed merchant or triathlete, is as much at home in H₂O as a pedestrian strolling along a country lane.

"But good swimmers often drown," some sportsman will remark. And I'll retort that very few of them do, so few in proportion to non-swimmers that their chances of going down "for the last time" are almost nil. As for keeping your head above water, you're a good swimmer you will hardly need that admonition. You won't get panicky if your boat wallows down to the gunnels. It'll float, even with an outboard clamped to the stern. Just hang on to the craft, and unless hurricane conditions prevail you'll be safe indefinitely. No use trying to swim to safety in a storm if you have a boat, even one full of water, to cling to. Maybe you'll get a little scared if, when swimming, a few successive whitecapped waves break into your nostrils. Just shake your head and keep on stroking. Every sea can't hit you on the nose!

DODGERS SIGN PITCHER
BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 22.—(INS)—Dodger President Branch Rickey began lining up a string of pitchers for the coming season today and announced he would offer a contract to Vic Lombardi, 22, who hurled for Durham in 1942. Watching Lombardi work out in the West Point field house yesterday, Rickey revealed he was impressed, stating, "The kid is smart."

Banking on Walls
Billy Walls is a sure bet to win a few points in the broad jump—his specialty last year. He is perhaps the best in the W.P.I.A.L. in this department and is looking forward to a great season, providing his injured leg responds to treatment. Walls received an injury in football last fall.

Bridenbaugh has ordered all football boys to report for track after the Easter vacation. This will help to condition the youngsters for the rigorous workouts that will come this fall.

So far New Castle High has two dual meets lined up—with Grove City and Meadville. New Castle will also enter the W.P.I.A.L. relay at Ambler and the annual W.P.I.A.L. meet at Conneville, it was indicated.

All-Stars Will Battle Pottery
The Lawrence County All-Stars have been billed for a basketball game at the "Y" Friday night at 8 o'clock, with the Shenango Pottery team. Western Pennsylvania champions, city and local industrial champions, it was announced today by Darlo Baptiste.

Eddie Nahas of Shenango High will have charge of the county All-Stars, including Grinnen, Bennett, C. Tanner, Korab, Koszela, Owoe, Stack and others.

ONLY ONE GAME
The First U. P. team, first-half champs of the Junior Church Basketball loop, continued to win, defeating the St. George team last night in the only game played in the league, 28 to 7. The First U. P. and Second U. P. teams are tied for first place in the second half, which will end Saturday, March 31, when the First and Second teams will tangle.

Union Banqueting Athletic Teams

Letters Will Be Awarded To Football, Basketball, Cheerleaders, And Managers

This is the night that Union High school has set aside for honoring the football players, basketball cheerleaders and student managers with a gigantic banquet in the school gym. The dinner is slated for 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. A. L. Hoffmaster of New Castle, former Union High track star will be the principal speaker. The toastmaster duties will fall to the capable Howard Cox, it was announced.

Give Out Letters
Presentation of the letters to the football and basketball players will be made by Coach Wilbur "Pat" Patterson, with Joe Thompson making the awards to the junior varsity boys. Miss Angeline Venditto to the girl cheerleaders, and Faculty Manager Clayton Hofmeister to the student managers.

The banquet is open to all Union High followers in the township who care to attend. Quite a few tickets have been sold by the school for the event.

High Track Team 'Working' Indoors

Squad Of About 35 Boys Train In Gym; Have Two Dual Meets Lined Up

New Castle High school track candidates have started working out, but in the high school gym for the present, until the weather warms up somewhat. Probably after the Easter vacation the squad of some 35 boys will move to the cinders at Taggart stadium. Athletic Director Phil Bridenbaugh announced.

The track team is coached by William Klee, a former New Castle High and Geneva star track man. Just what kind of material New Castle will have for track this year will not be known until the boys can get outdoors.

Banking on Walls
Billy Walls is a sure bet to win a few points in the broad jump—his specialty last year. He is perhaps the best in the W.P.I.A.L. in this department and is looking forward to a great season, providing his injured leg responds to treatment. Walls received an injury in football last fall.

All-Stars Will Battle Pottery
The Lawrence County All-Stars have been billed for a basketball game at the "Y" Friday night at 8 o'clock, with the Shenango Pottery team. Western Pennsylvania champions, city and local industrial champions, it was announced today by Darlo Baptiste.

Eddie Nahas of Shenango High will have charge of the county All-Stars, including Grinnen, Bennett, C. Tanner, Korab, Koszela, Owoe, Stack and others.

ONLY ONE GAME
The First U. P. team, first-half champs of the Junior Church Basketball loop, continued to win, defeating the St. George team last night in the only game played in the league, 28 to 7. The First U. P. and Second U. P. teams are tied for first place in the second half, which will end Saturday, March 31, when the First and Second teams will tangle.

Reds Will Play Cubs Five Games

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 22.—(INS)—The Cincinnati Reds will stop off in French Lick for about five exhibition games with the Cubs just before the Cubs start for home for their four-game series with the Sox in Chicago, April 12-15. It was learned today. The Reds will be on the way back from a game they play April 6 at Fort Knox, Ky., and will stop at French Lick, Ind., instead of continuing on to their Bloomington, Ind., training camp.

Four Teams Left In Floor Tourney

Fort Wayne Zollners, Defending Champions, Stay In Race; Pittsburgh Eliminated

CHICAGO, March 22.—(INS)—Four teams survived today in the world championship basketball tournament at the Chicago stadium, one of them the defending titleholders, the Fort Wayne Zollners, and another a surprising quint from Dayton, O., the Acme Bombers.

The other winners in last night's quarter finals were the New York Rens and the Chicago American Gears. The four-game card was witnessed by a crowd of 14,702, said to be a record for a pro tournament.

The Acme Bombers nipped the strong Dow Chemicals of Midland, Mich., in the last 30 seconds of play, 52 to 50.

Eddie Wright of the New York Rens paced his team to a 61 to 52 victory over the Pittsburgh Raiders with seven field goals and four penalty tosses. The Rens led 39 to 31 at halftime.

The American Gears defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters, 53 to 49, while the Fort Wayne Zollners protected their title by a 63-52 verdict over the Oshkosh All-Stars.

Pirates Forced To Stay Inside
Rain And Snow At Muncie Causes Curtailment Of Workout, Play Basketball

MUNCIE, March 22.—(INS)—Word from Frankie Frisch, Pirate manager, today revealed that his bed-confined swollen leg is improving and that he expects to join his Buccaneers in their spring workouts at the Muncie training camp in about two weeks.

With yesterday's rain and snow making a mud-hole out of McCullough Park's baseball field, acting manager Spud Davis put the Pirates through their first indoor workout of the year. Basketball and calisthenics led by Rip Sewell made up the day's exercise program in the high school fieldhouse.

Latest arrivals, Lefty Fritz Ostermuller and third baseman Bob Elliott, were excused from practice to catch up on sleep lost in their train trips to camp.

Ex-Penn State Gridder Wounded For Second Time

Lt. Johnny Jaffurs Of Wilkensburg Again Hospitalized In England

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 22.—Lt. Johnny Jaffurs, Penn State's all-American football candidate in 1943, has been wounded for the second time while serving on the German front. He is now hospitalized in England.

Jaffurs, a Wilkensburg youth and captain of the 43 eleven, was wounded for the first time in mid-January, and was just back in action a few weeks when he was wounded a second time. Both mishaps came within a period of seven weeks.

The ex-Lion gridder, said he was first hit in the legs while serving with the Timber Wolf Division of the First Army.

Nelson Wins In Tourney Playoff

Defeats Sammy Sneed At Charlotte, N. C. In Playoff To Grab $2,000 First Prize

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 22.—(INS)—The overtime duel between Byron Nelson and Sam Sneed finally was over and Nelson took away with him today the top $2,000 prize in the $10,000 Charlotte Open Golf tournament. Sneed's runner-up purse was $1,500.

The final 18-hole playoff was an anti-climax to the thrilling finish of the regulation 72 holes when the two great golfers tied at 272, 16 under par, and to the first of the playoffs when again they tied with 69s.

Nelson yesterday played his usual brilliant game, getting another 3 under par 69, while Sneed, off his game most of the time after his four strokes to the bad.

Nelson came up to the 18th three strokes up on his adversary, then shot a deuce to make his victory convincing.

The caravan of winter golfers now moves to Greensboro, N. C., where the $5,000 Open begins tomorrow.

Beagle Field Trials April 1

Field trial for Beagles will be held April 1 and not April 15, at the Shenango Valley Beagle club's training area and, hence members will meet at seven p.m. Saturday at the area clubhouse to form plans for the trials. From now until following the trials, training at the area is prohibited.

TROSKY MAY REPORT
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 22.—(INS)—The first reaction in the Chicago White Sox camp today to the decision of the War Manpower Commission that players employed in war industries during the off-season may return to baseball was that Hal Trosky and several other Sox might show up soon.

Trosky previously had determined to remain where he was as a farmer-war worker in Iowa, but the attitude of the WMC may lure him out of retirement.

Mikan Stars In DePaul Victory

DePaul Center Scores 53 Points As Team Wins 97 To 53, Bowling Green Wins

FINAL GAME SET MONDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, March 22.—(INS)—With a string of broken records behind him, George Mikan, DePaul's ace center, and his teammates entered the finals of the National Invitation Basketball tournament today after dousing Rhode Island 97 to 53 in Madison Square Garden last night.

In the other semi-final contest, Bowling Green of Ohio sent St. John's university, champion for the past two years, to a 57 to 44 defeat and earned the right to meet DePaul for the crown Monday night.

Mikan Scores 32
But Mikan's performance last night made him seem unbeatable. Scoring 32 points, the 6-foot-9-inch center shattered at least a half dozen Madison Square Garden records, taking into account his two previous games in the tourney. His 33 points, gathered by 21 field goals and 11 free throws, eclipsed the previous garden high of 45 netted by Harry Goveck of St. John's in 1943.

The Bowling Green-St. John's struggle was a much more normal contest. It was 28 to 28 at the half and then the Ohio boys built up a lead of nine points and stayed in front all the way despite one St. John's threat. Mykol Gray of with 17.

Flynn Is Winner In Cleveland Bout

Rochester Heavyweight Defeats Lee Q. Murray In Upset Win

CLEVELAND, March 22.—(INS)—Although he put in a listless performance, Johnny Flynn, Rochester, N. Y., heavyweight, may have earned himself a shot at Joe Baksi, high-ranking Kulpmont, Pa., battler, following his upset win over Lee Q. Murray, South Norwalk, Conn. Negro, in a 10-round bout at the Cleveland arena last night.

The winner of the Flynn-Murray bout had been promised a shot at Baksi on the next Cleveland fight card April 17.

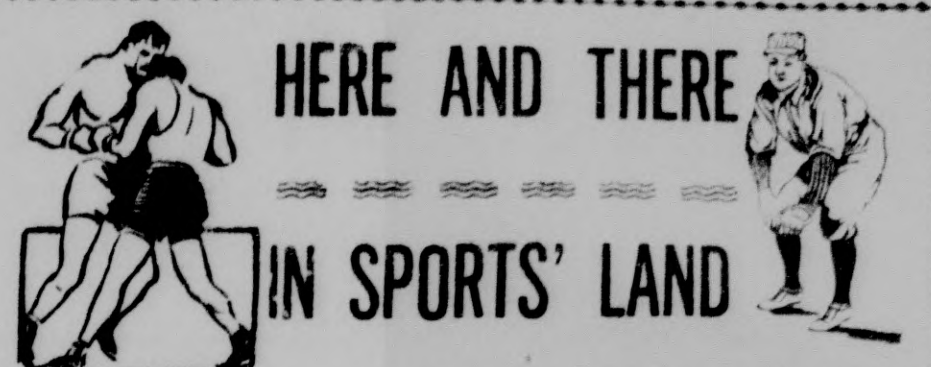

Flynn, 3-1 underdog in the betting, won a split decision in the tame 10-round tangle, before a crowd of 6,359 customers who paid in to a total gate of $18,330. Murray rallied in the last round, throwing right and lefts to Flynn's jaw but he failed to kyo the Rochester farm boy.

Would Ask Hunters Tag Game At Once

HARRISBURG, March 22.—(INS)—A bill which would require hunters to tag big game immediately after the kill was being considered today by the Senate Game and Fish committee.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R) Monroe, would require sportsmen to file bag reports within 48 hours.

ALBERT A. BURLEY, fishing philanthropist, has changed that sage bid of advice, "spare the rod and spoil the child" to read, "spare the rod and give it to a child." Burley, a successful New York broker, makes fishing rods as a hobby. He doesn't sell them, however, but gives 'em away to promote the sport of fishing. And the recipients are young and old, rich and poor. Burley has followed this unusual hobby for 25 years. He makes rods of the Leonard Paine and Hardy professional variety. The fishing philanthropist estimates he has made more than 300 rods over a period of 25 years.

Each rod, which is made of either bamboo, black palm, lancewood, purple heart, hickory or other similar woods, requires from three to four months for completion and receives at least 50 coats of varnish, dried in a room thermostatically controlled at 72 degrees Fahrenheit. That's a whole heap of pains-taking labor. However, it is in the silk windings, which bind the nickel guides to the pole that is the culmination of craftsmanship and rod artistry. Threads from GO to F, raising all colors of the spectrum, go to make the complicated color combinations and design which at first glance so delight the eye.

When Cilindri Valencia, Spanish-speaking Mexican bantam, and Jean Barriere, French-speaking Canadian, were matched for a bout in Detroit, the plea went out for a ref who could speak both Spanish and French to handle the bout. Lou Boudreau's average of 327, winning the A. L. bat title last year, was the lowest to win the crown since 1908 when Ty Cobb won the championship with 324. In 20 years in the majors Al Simmons batted in 1,827 runs. He batted in two runs last season. . . . There were 439 home runs hit in the A. L. last season, the Yanks topping the list with 98 round-trippers. . . . Remember when Ruth himself hit 60?

Great Lakes Naval Training Station will see all major league baseball teams in exhibitions this summer with the exception of one club, according to an announcement from Great Lakes. The Senators, who did not play there last year, will play this season and dates already have been arranged for the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox. Twenty-one home games with major league and American Association teams are being scheduled. . . . Advent of the warm weather reminds one that what the aging ball players need is more of that spring in their walk.

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 22.—You won't find me sailing for any more prize fights around here, even if I think the upcoming fight looks all right. Jimmy Bivins, the 4-F Cleveland Negro, and Mello Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., soldier, make you realize how utterly stupid it is to say nowadays that any given fight should be a hum-dinger. The fighters can't find.

Thus on Friday night of this week I would advise everybody to stay home, although I personally will be in Madison Square Garden on a working press ticket (tax free) to see Lee Oma, the curious Detroit heavyweight, against Tami Mauriello, who trains on his own.

Not Worth 30 Cents
If I had to pay as much as 30 cents to see this fight I wouldn't go. I would follow Mauriello's footsteps and adjourn around the corner for three 10-cent beers.

Would Ask Hunters Tag Game At Once
Inasmuch as I can get into Madison Square Garden free I figure I might as well join the suckers—about $50,000 worth—and look in on this one.

I haven't the faintest idea who will win it. Dan Parker says in today's New York Mirror that "a lot of money is being bet in inside circles that Mauriello will knock out Oma."

I don't know anything about it, but I do know that the Bivins-Bettina bout of last week left a stench around here that even the sanitation department can't remove. That Baseball is pursuing the same general line that caused horse racing, allegedly to be blacked out. The horse racing people at some points are supposed to have ignored rules against open parking spaces and other such odds and ends, along with alleged absenteeism and widespread travelling.

Baseball went to Washington and got itself squared with officials, but actually has made no outright sacrifice in behalf of the war effort. The schedule's for both major leagues call for more travelling than last year, for instance.

The one thing that baseball has done was to cancel the annual all-star game.

That is no concession at all. Baseball in general and the players in particular have never liked the all-star game anyhow.

The greatest hazards of flying in air buses in Greenland are unpredictable weather, with sudden changes, hazardous icing conditions and the rugged terrain.

Allied Bombing Of Germany Big Aid To Russians

By JAMES POWERS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 22—Allied bombing of Germany deserves much of the credit for the speed of the Russian advance in Eastern Europe, a leading American airman said today after a three and a half months tour of the European war theater.

"After seeing in Western Europe the complete devastation wrought by our bombers, it is not hard to understand why the Russians found transportation and behind-the-lines organization completely disrupted," said Albert L. Lodwick, special consultant to the War Department and head of the Lodwick Aeronautics school, Lakeland, Fla.

Lodwick said the importance of U. S. strategic and tactical bombing has not been properly understood in America and paid tribute to the work of Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz and Lieut. Gen. James Doolittle for their bombing of German industry and transportation.

How Program Works

"Strategic and tactical bombing," he said, "is like kicking over the bucket of milk and killing the cow—the strategic bomber tries to kill the cow and then if any milk has escaped destruction the tactical bombers go after that."

Including the bombing carried out by Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of the Mediterranean Air Force, U. S. heavy bombers have reduced German oil production by 20 per cent, Lodwick said, leaving the Nazis but one-fifth of their former oil production.

Lodwick, 41, is a native of Mystic, Iowa.

Despite the terrific bombing of Germany, Lodwick warned that the capture of great cities like Berlin would not mean the end of the war.

"The Germans have plenty of fight left in them. We will have to fight them house to house before we eventually beat them... everyone here asks when the war will end. Over there on the battle fronts where they are fighting yard by yard and mile by mile they don't ask that question."

Physical Fitness Speakers Refuse To Talk To Press

Reporters Get Shoved Out Of Conference On Fitness For Women

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 22—(INS)—If your mammy done told you there are two (2) sexes—don't talk; the enemy may be listening.

In the Federal Security agency's book that comes under the head of security stuff, in fact reporters were ousted from the "physical fitness for women" conference just as Dr. Margaret Mead of the National Research Council was giving tongue on that very subject.

"There are two sexes and we simply must recognize the fact," Dr. Mead declared earnestly. "Any society which takes one sex as a pattern is doomed."

They Just Won't Talk

At that point reporters got the honorable heave-ho. They were told that co-representatives of army and navy, selective service and other government agencies "simply won't talk before the press" for "security reason."

The pattern of the conference seemed to be to get the girls out of the kitchen and on to the parallel bars. The physical fitness conference plans to have Mama chin herself while the borscht is on the boil and practice the bicycle ride while baby pounds its ear.

Another military secret the conferees learned is that little boys have a higher "morbidity rate" than little girls.

Among the stern questions which they set out to answer were these: "What are the basic motives in the lives of girls and women?"

"What relation does physical fitness have to fulfillment of these motives?"

Love for Exercise

"What plans can be formulated to stimulate parents to bring up their daughters with a love for exercise?"

"Do play skills help girls to achieve status?"

"Would a richer, more vigorous play life for girls be one tool which society could use to help offset the high degree of emotional instability among women?"

Conferees told that girls admitted to the WACS and WAVES "have poor posture, are low in endurance and are lacking in strength."

Represented at the conference were the WACS, WAVES, SPARS, Women Marines, Selective Service, Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency and United States Education Office.

Amusement Ticket Ceiling Is Urged By Chester Bowles

WASHINGTON, March 22—(INS)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles Wednesday supported his plea for theater and movie ticket ceilings with the assertion that seven major motion picture firm's profits soared 42 per cent in 1943 over the 1936-39 average.

From May 1942 to November 1944, ticket prices increased 31 per cent, he declared.

At the same time, he asked that barber and beauty shops be brought under price controls and declared that the existing provisions for protection of trade names and forbidding grade labeling has handicapped OPA in its fight against deterioration of quality in merchandise.

Asking movie ticket ceilings Bowles said Americans spend a billion a year for motion pictures.

"Recreation is considered an essential part of American living," he said, rejecting the view that it is a luxury that should be ignored by price control.
